It's time for GDPR – and Kleos is ready! Accelerate compliance and reassure your clients that their personal data is always safe!

Data protection is central to Wolters Kluwer and, as a software provider and data processor, we take our responsibility towards protecting personal data and fulfilling our obligations to you, our customers, seriously.

We are pleased to confirm that Kleos cloud-based practice management software meets the requirements of the GDPR, with ISO 27001 certified processes respecting the highest data security standards. Our German data centers and servers are monitored 24/7, protected from unauthorized access, intrusions and accidents, verified by independent third parties (Norton and McAfee), and continuously backed-up, meaning your data is always safely stored and cannot be corrupted or lost. Not only do we work to identify possible threats in advance to protect our systems, but we also communicate potential risks to customers so they can proactively prevent data breaches from happening in the first place by updating their systems with antivirus software.

In addition to providing secure storage and processing of personal data, Kleos Connect – the secure file-sharing portal available to all customers – is the best alternative to sending documents as attachments in emails, which has been identified as a major data breach risk under GDPR.

Furthermore, we are offering services to help our customers accelerate their own compliance by harnessing the power of the innovative tools and features that Kleos has to offer.
